UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

IN RE: Sign-in Requirement for Defendants Accepted into Pretrial Diversion Program	ORDER

In many cases defendants who are accepted into the pretrial diversion program operated by the United States Attorney have previously signed personal recognizance appearance bonds. Generally those bonds require defendants to sign in with the Clerk of Court on the second Friday of each month. Because an individual participating in the diversion program is required to maintain regular contact with a probation officer, it is unnecessary to require him or her also to sign in with the Clerk; and in some instances this requirement is disruptive of work or study schedules. It is therefore,

ORDERED, that any defendant who has been released on personal recognizance by the undersigned, and who thereafter is accepted into the pretrial diversion program, is relieved of any obligation stated in his or her Appearance Bond to sign in with the Clerk of this Court on the second Friday of each month.

The pretrial diversion coordinator in the office of the United States Attorney is authorized to so advise each defendant at the time he or she is accepted into the diversion program.

DATED this 19 day of November, 1975.

U. S. Magistrate
