

UNITED STATES PROBATION AND PRETRIAL SERVICES
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

MENTAL HEALTH SPECIALIST

ANNOUNCEMENT NUMBER 16-WAW-10

ANNOUNCEMENT DATE March 25, 2016

CLOSING DATE April 15, 2016

The U.S. Probation and Pretrial Services Office for the Western District of Washington is currently accepting applications for a Mental Health Specialist. Our District has three distinct units under U.S. Probation and Pretrial Services: a pretrial services unit including supervision, a presentence unit, and a post-conviction supervision unit. There are five offices within the district: Seattle, Tacoma, Tukwila, Everett, and Vancouver. The assignment to a duty station is at the discretion of the Chief. Frequent travel within the district is required as is some out of district travel.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Probation and Pretrial Services officers serve in a judiciary law enforcement capacity and assist in the fair administration of justice, provide community safety, conduct objective investigations, supervise defendants or offenders, and interact with outside agencies and community members.

The Mental Health Specialist will supervise a reduced caseload district wide of defendants with serious mental health issues or co-occurring issues. This position is responsible for providing leadership and mentoring within the district through education, training, and case staffing with regard to supervising individuals with mental health conditions.

REPRESENTATIVE DUTIES

- Perform investigative and supervision responsibilities for defendants with complex mental health issues.
- Serve as a consultant and resource for officers in the treatment and supervision of defendants with mental health issues.
- Serve as a liaison with mental health organizations.
- Conduct suicide assessments district wide.
- Facilitate the crisis intervention program
- Maintain personal contact with defendants through office and community contacts to maximize adherence to imposed conditions, reduce risk of danger to the community, reduce risk of nonappearance, and to provide correctional treatment.
- Investigate employment, sources of income, life style, and associates to assess risk and compliance. Through assessment and counseling, implement the necessary treatment or violation proceedings. Refer defendants to appropriate outside agencies such as mental health, medical and drug treatment facilities, employment and training.
- Assure the protection of the constitutional rights of defendants through the statutory mandate to assess risk of nonappearance and danger to the community.
- Enforce pretrial and post-conviction supervision conditions through evidence based practices of effective supervision.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Maintain and update program policies to ensure overall understanding and consistency within the district.
- Identify trends and techniques, and evaluates available resources to assist or complement the program.
- Educate staff and other stakeholders regarding our mission as it relates to mental health treatment and supervision. Identifies training needs; collaborates with community resources and other agencies in order to provide and coordinate training for staff.
- Serve as mentor to new and existing personnel. Manifests leadership skills through mentoring and involvement in various assigned projects and training programs. Participates in administrative level planning, provides consultation, and offers ideas on program direction.
- Provide consultation to judges and attorneys concerning subjects unique to the investigation and supervision of mental health related issues in defendants.
- Prepare program procedures in written form to ensure overall understanding and consistency within the district.
- Perform additional duties as required by management.
- Knowledge of, and compliance with, the Code of Conduct for Judicial Employees and court confidentiality requirements. Ability to demonstrate sound ethics and mature, professional judgment as an objective, neutral officer of the court.
- Demonstrated passion and commitment, knowledge, skill and ability in working with individuals who have serious mental health issues;
- Ability to respond to crisis situations with a professional, calm demeanor
- Commitment to upholding and promoting the district's mission;
- Professional written and verbal communication skills;
- Strong work ethic;
- Commitment to and demonstration of continued professional development;
- Ability to exercise mature judgment, discretion, and confidentiality.
- Ability to organize and prioritize work schedule, and work independently with minimal supervision. Ability to work under pressure and with short deadlines while maintaining a positive and professional demeanor.
- Ability to exercise impartiality and discretion with the defendant population and their family/support system.
- Ability to routinely work non-traditional hours.
- Ability to interact and communicate effectively, both orally and in writing, with people of diverse backgrounds. This includes all defendants and particularly defendants with mental health challenges, law enforcement and collateral agency personnel at different government levels, and community service providers.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

- A master's degree or higher in psychology, social work, or related field strongly preferred.
- Licensed Mental Health Counselor (LMHC) or Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW)
- Knowledge of the roles and functions of federal probation and pretrial services and the legal requirements used in probation and pretrial services. Knowledge of how other judicial process and procedures relate to the officer's roles and responsibilities.
- Ability to communicate fluently in a second language.

EDUCATION

Required Education: Completion of a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university in a field of academic study, such as criminal justice, criminology, psychology, sociology, human relations, or business or public administration, which provides evidence of the capacity to understand and apply the legal requirements and human relations skills involved in the position.

Preferred Education: Completion of a master's degree in psychology, behavioral science, mental health, or social work related field.

Specialized Experience: Minimum of two years progressively responsible experience, gained after completion of a bachelor's degree, in such fields as probation, pretrial services, parole, corrections, criminal investigations, or work in substance/addiction treatment is required. Experience as a police, custodial, or security officer, other than any criminal investigative experience, is not creditable.

Educational Substitutions: Completion of one academic year (30 semester or 45 quarter hours), of graduate work in a field of study closely related to the position equates to one year of specialized experience. Completion of a master's degree in a field of study closely related to the position, or a Juris Doctor (JD) degree, equates to two years of specialized experience. An advanced degree is strongly preferred.

MEDICAL REQUIREMENTS

The duties of probation and pretrial services officers require the investigation and management of defendants charged with criminal offenses or convicted offenders, both who present physical danger to officers and to the public. In the supervision, treatment, and control of these defendants or offenders, these duties require moderate to arduous physical exercise, including prolonged periods of walking and standing, physical dexterity and coordination necessary to operate a firearm, and use of self-defense tactics. On a daily basis, officers face unusual mental and physical stress because they are subject to danger and possible harm during frequent, direct contact with individuals who are charged with criminal offenses or convicted of committing federal offenses.

Prior to appointment, the selectee considered for this position will undergo a medical examination and drug screening. Upon successful completion of the medical examination and drug screening, the selectee may then be appointed provisionally, pending a favorable suitability determination by the court. In addition, as conditions of employment, incumbent will be subject to ongoing random drug screening, updated background investigations every five years and, as deemed necessary by management for reasonable cause, may be subject to subsequent fitness-for-duty evaluations.

The medical requirements and the essential job functions derived from the medical guidelines for probation and pretrial services officers and officer assistants are available for public review at <http://www.uscourts.gov/>. Pre-employment medical examinations for current federal probation and pretrial services officers and officer assistants are at the discretion of the Chief and may not be required.

Because officers must effectively deal with physical attacks and are subject to moderate to arduous physical exertion, applicants must be physically capable. Officers must possess, with or without corrective lenses, good distance vision in at least one eye and the ability to read normal size print. Normal hearing ability, with or without a hearing aid, is also required. In most instances, the amputation of an arm, hand, leg, or foot will not disqualify an applicant from appointment, although it may be necessary for the applicant to use a prosthesis to compensate for the amputation. Any severe health problems, however, such as physical defects, disease, and deformities that constitute employment hazards to the applicant or others, may disqualify an applicant. Examples of health problems that may be disqualifying
